activism in any social movement group is as deborah gould observes a project of collective world making it is about changing the world out there by influencing policy and public opinion but is also about the way it transforms the lives of participants activists generate new identities cultures social ties rich and varied emotional experiences and interpretations of the world around them movements are more likely to be able to attract and sustain support when as projects of collective world making they feel compelling to activists and would be activists in this book busher explores what has made activism in the english defence league edl an anti muslim protest movement that has staged demonstrations across the uk since 2009 so compelling to those who have chosen to march under its banner based on sixteen months of overt observation with grassroots activists he explores how people became involved with the group how they forged and intensified belief in the edl cause how they negotiated accusations that they were just another racist far right group and how grassroots edl activism began to unravel during the course of 2011 but did not do so altogether providing a fresh insight as to how contemporary anti minority protest movements work on the inside this book will be of interest to students scholars and activists working in the areas of british politics extremism social movements community relations and current affairs more generally
